

I called the "Rosie on the House" radio show two weeks ago regarding problems we were having with our irrigation system. we discussed changing the selenoids, bleeding the valves, and checking the water pressure. You were very gracious and suggested that we contact ThinkGreen.

Bill Jenkins from Think Green was at our house within hours of my husband's call the next day. He quickly diagnosed the problem to be the controller (he jumpered an ammeter from a known voltage source to one of wires to a problematic station) and recommended a larger and more flexible controller.

Thank you.
